

MIRS

March 18, 2008

P.A. 141 Repeal Staying Put

Sources tell MIRS that HB 4562, legislation that would repeal Michigan customer choice legislation that provides for competition in the energy market, is a no-go this week.

By no means would the bill have been guaranteed traction in the Senate anyway, but there had been some talk of moving it out of the House Energy and Tech Committee and even passing it on the House floor before the spring break, which starts next week. The committee cancelled its meeting for Wednesday.

Apparently, there is some new angle on the problematic bill that House leadership wants to explore before starting to move the legislation.